trrigation Company There are notes in eastern papers yet as to the Hudson Reservoir and Irrigation company of this valley The said eastern papers and all others concerned should take notice that the Hudson company is gone the way of all fakes. It was a great project, with its capital of millions in the Colonel Sellers brain of one Wells Hendershott. The scheme, as far as it related to the reservoir at the junction of Tonto creek and Salt River, was a grand and eminently feasible one; as far as a canal was concerned it was a fairy tale. The surveyers who did the work on the apper Salt River yet await the return of Wells Hendershott and the arrival of the time for the "walking of the ghost." In other words all they got out of their work was tary condition of the place, which is an food, and very ordinary feed at that, so old convent made into a prison, was they say. Some day, and that at an early one, the Tonto creek reservoir will be made an accomplished fact, but it will not be through the capital of the "Hudson Reservoir and Irrigation company" or the efforte of its promoter and manager, Wells Hendershott -Phoenix Gazette
